

The Warren Reader

Reading is for everyone!

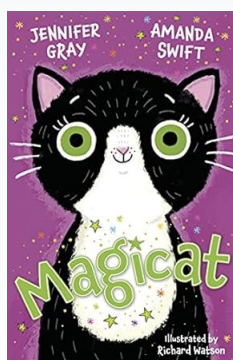

By CeCe Brentnall.

A few weeks ago Miss Pithers gave me a book called 'The Magic Cat'. This book was different to other books because it had yellow pages and the words are bigger.

The pages are yellow. This is so children can see the words clearly as sometime white paper makes the words confusing. This makes it easier and more relaxing for me to read. It make me feel happy knowing there are different kinds of books to help different kinds of readers. I have never enjoyed reading a book so much!

I really enjoyed this book and then went on to read 'Ellie and the Cat, by Malorie Blackman.

Miss Pithers was so kind to find me this book and it was something I had never seen before!

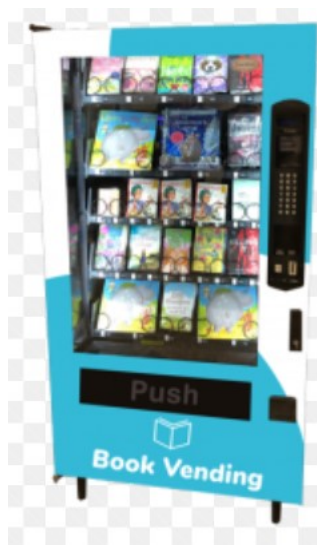

Reading team

Inside this issue

Vending machine re-minder	2
Book reviews	3
Latest reads	4
Published writing	6

•

Reading vending machine!

Just a reminder that you should be reading at home everyday.
When you get 50 marks on your bookmark,

you will get a free book from our amazing vending machine!

Christmas books- chosen by the reading team.

Here is Demi's favourite that you can find in the library!

Review by Mollie, Reading ambassador

This book is about a sheep who had multicoloured wool so he was different. IT shared the story of a sheep who changed Christmas forever.

I loved this because it celebrated differences and it made you think it was ok to be different. The world would be boring if we were all the same!

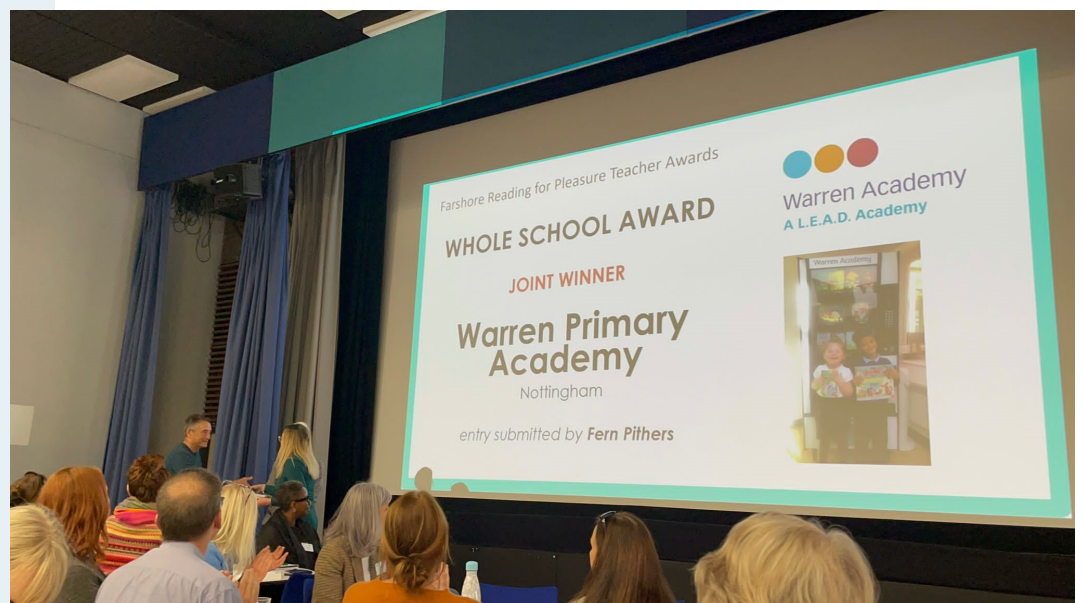

Give this book a try for Christmas!

The latest reading news!

We won!!

Mia H was super excited about our win and said 'I felt extremely happy that we won this award. I was very grateful for all the support we've had to make the reading culture in our school even better. It has been a great experience being part of the reading team and I am super proud!'

Welcome to the team.....

Shanay, Y2

"Too many books, you mean not enough shelves!" - Mollie, Reading ambassador

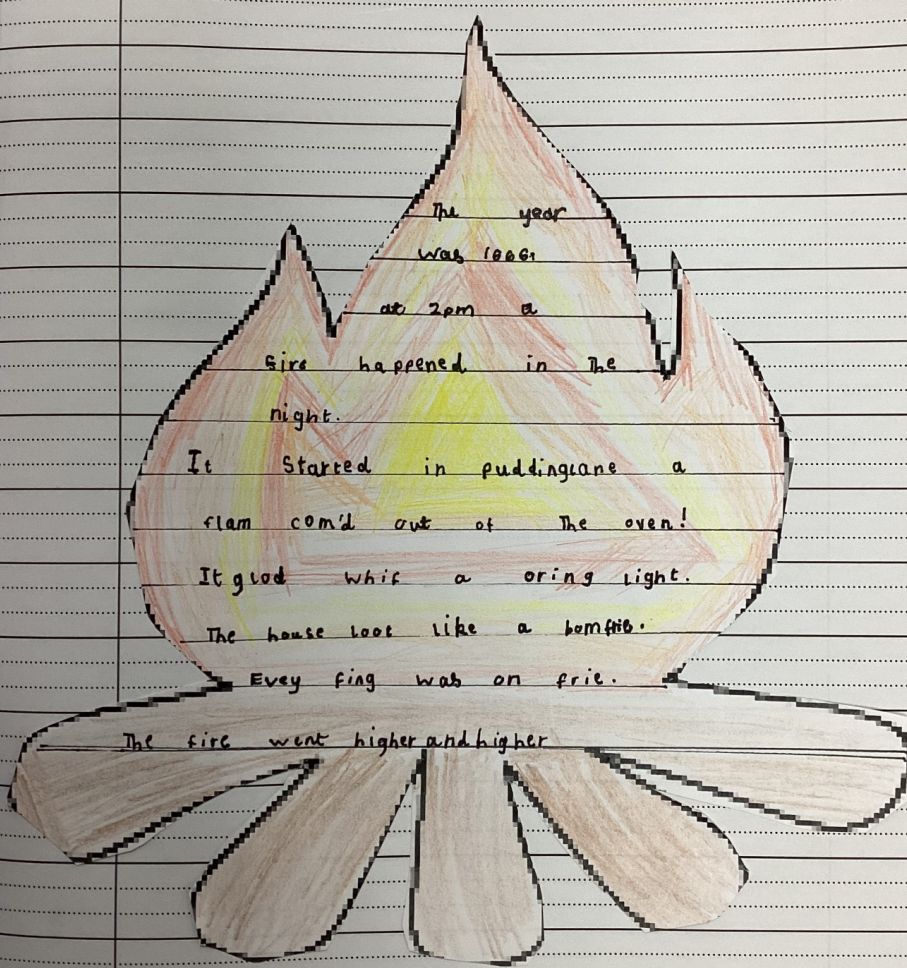

New Library in Nottingham City Centre

Published work from our 'Warren Writers'.

A Poem about Great Fire of London by Alore in Y2.

Date: Friday 17th and Tuesday 21st November 2023
L.T-To know how to write a poem about the Great Fire of London.

The year was 1666 at 2pm a fire happened in the night.
It started in Pudding Lane a flame came out of the oven!
It glowed with a bright light.
The house looked like a bonfire.
Every thing was on fire.
The fire went higher and higher

			ABC	P		SP
sound it out	form letters correctly	use finger spaces	use capital letters appropriately	vary punctuation	write on the line	check the spelling	vary conjunctions	reading check